It is the cleanest of all soft coal stoves; has the largest ash-pan; easy to handle; it is constructed entirely of cast-iron, and is sold at a slight advance over the common oak stove. Christian Endeavor Convention.

The Keystone League of Christian Endeavor of the United Evangelical church met for its annual convention in Grace church, north of the river, last night at 7:30. A goodly number of delegates have gathered, numbering fifty-four.

This morning and afternoon's program was interestingly rendered. The program is well interspersed with intervals for discussions that prove both interesting and profitable. This evening s session will have for its chief feature an address on "Consecration" by Rev. J. J. Klapp, of Naperville, Ill.

A Private Wedding

Rev. Samuel Earngey, formerly pastor of the Methodist church in this city, and at present the popular pastor of the First Methodist church at Elgin this state, and Mrs. Fannie M. Judd, of this city, were married this afternoon at two o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Meserole on Peoria avenue, Rev. O. H. Cessna of the Methodist church officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few of the near relatives of the contracting parties and Mr. and Mrs. Earngey departon the afternoon train for Elgin. Rev. Earngey's many friends here within and without the Methodist circle and the bride's life-long neighbors wish them a long life of happiness.

That Cutrageous Gerrymander

In speaking of the suit brought in the Lee county Circuit court on behalf of the Republican State Central Committee to test the legality of the recent apportionment, which now disgraces the statute books of our state, the Inter Ocean says that the proceedings in the case adversely decided by the Suprem court last June were in equity, while the new suit is one at law. The first case was not decided on its merits. The defense did not attempt to justify the apportionment, but insisted that the remedy was at law and not in equity, and the court unanimously concurred in that opinion.

In the lay mind the question naturally arises, Why did not General Hunt bring the original suit in law? Upon the face of things it would look as if a blunder had been made, and one that was inexcusable in a lawyer of such eminence as George Hunt. But, as a matter of fact, it was impossible to bring a suit in law at that early day. It was necessary to wait until about this time. The only possible chance for getting a decision before the Legislative election in this fall was to proceed in equity. Nothing, therefore, was lost by those proceedings, and there were precedents which would have justified the court in rendering a decision on the merits of the case on the chancery side.

The indications are very strongly in favor of a Republican majority on joint ballot in the next General Assembly, notwithstanding the unfairness of the apportionment, thanks to the landslide that seems to be assured. But ordinarily the odds would be too great to be overcome, and the suit which has just been begun will be brought to a conclusion in time for 1896, when in all probability its remedial effects will be of practical importance.

The Congressional apportionment was also unfair, and it may be asked, Why bring suit to set one gerrymander aside and not the other? There are two reasons. First, the General Assembly can change the Congressional apportionment by statute, with the approval of the Governor, and with a reasonably fair Legislative apportionment it is safe to say that in 1897 the State will be reapportioned for Congress. The second reason is that under our State constitution the General Assembly cannot change the Legislative apportionment. If the Supreme court sets it aside then legislation can be had, but not otherwise. On the whole, then, the ex-Attorney General acted wisely in bringing both suits.

—The Daily Sun again made its appearance Monday evening, after some sort of an eclipse of a few months, considerably larger than before it went under a cloud. We are pleased with our neighbor's modest, candid, honest and sensible salutatory, for we do as fully appreciate a fair competitor as we depreciate chicanery, and we are pleased to note that Publisher Day does not propose to humbug his patrons, even in the matters of a "long felt want," etc., etc. THE TELEGRAPH again extends to the Daily Sun the warm hand of journalistic friendship, and wishes it success in all things except its politics; and, really, in that particular we shall be here to look after it and rectify any free trade foibles we may discover from day to day in Mr. Day's daily.

—The following wail or apology in the Polo Visitor explains itself: Some one imposed upon us last week by sending us some Grand Detour items, and signing a good, honest name, which we find upon investigation was fictitious. We have learned since that Mr. John Davlin is no relation to Miss Nettie Fletcher, and never went anywhere with her. That Mr. David Winebrenner is already married, and that Miss Effie England is a nice young lady. Also that Mr. Wm. Montgomery is not married and therefore was not presented with a bouncing boy early Tuesday morning. We would not mind electrocuting the wretch who sent them.

—C. J. Rosbrook has returned from a business trip through Southern Nebraska. Mr. Rosbrook reports the crops as being a complete failure in that part of the state.

Lawn Mowers.

The proper care of a lawn mower is a matter of importance, as even the best makes are liable to get out of order with ill usage. The bolts should always be kept tight and the knives at a uniform distance from the steel. The knives should always be kept sharp, which can be done with the saw file. If they get very dull, they should be taken off and ground. The lawn should be free from stones and sticks. A small stone in the lawn will be apt to cause much injury to the knives. Good oil should be used, as cheap oil gums too readily. For this purpose sewing machine oil is perhaps the best. The machine should not be allowed to rust, and to prevent this it should be properly housed on a dry wooden floor.—Hardware.

UNVEILS A STATUE.

Kaiser William Pays a Visit to Wiesbaden

IN HONOR OF EMPEROR WILLIAM I.

The Town Brilliantly Decorated and Full of Loyal Germans to Hail Their Young Ruler — The Ceremonies Briefly Described—A Visit to the New Theatre Follows—The Kaiser Not Exactly Pleased with the Work—Foreign Notes.

WIESBADEN, Prussia, Oct. 17.—This pretty watering place, at the foot of the Taurus mauntains, was crowded with loyal and enthusiastic Germans, and the town itself brilliant with holiday bunting in honor of the visit of Emperor William to unveil the monument to the memory of his grandfather, Emperor William I, and to open the splendid royal theater. The latter, which has been erected by the enterprising town, is one of the finest in Germany. It is built of yellow sandstone and is surmounted by statues, the work of celebrated sculptors. Inside the new theater the decorations are beautiful. They were designed by some of the best German artists.

Town Crowded with Visitors.

For several days past visitors have been pouring into the town and the hotels were so packed with guests that the smallest attic room commanded a fabulous price. The windows overlooking those portions of the city in which the emperor was to pass through were eagerly sought after, and as the afternoon approached began to fill with ladies in bright toilets, accompanied by their escorts. The streets through which the emperor was to pass were richly and beautifully decorated with Venetian masts at short intervals, which marked the route to be followed by the imperial party. In addition several elaborate arches of artistic design were erected at intervals along the streets.

Royalty Arrives at the Scene.

Punctually at 4:30 p. m. the imperial train arrived here and Emperor William was formally received by Mayor Von Ibel. The emperor was accompanied by a suite of sixteen persons, including the chiefs of the military and civil cabinets and his aide de camps, Von Moltke and Von Scholl. The party proceeded in open carriages through Wilhelm strasse to the south front of the new theatre opposite which stands the statue erected in honor of Emperor William I. A guard of honor composed of non-commissioned officers from the Biebrich school escorted the emperor through the streets, which were lined with troops and police, the greatest precautions being taken by both the military and civil authories to prevent any unpleasant incident.

Gives the Order for Unveiling.

The emperor and his suite alighted at a little distance from the pavilion and witnessed a march past of the guard of honor. He wore the uniform of the Leib hussaren, with the skull and cross bones helmet and a gray overcoat faced with red. Upon arriving upon the platform his majesty gave the signal for the singing to commence. While the male chorus was singing and afterwards while the mayor was making his speech of welcome Emperor William stood quietly looking over the crowd, apparently greatly interested in everything he saw. At the conclusion of the mayor's speech his majesty replied in a few well chosen words and then ordered the statue to be unveiled.

THE KAISER NOT QUITE SATISFIED.

He Doesn't Entirely Approve of the Statue or Its Position.

As the drapery slowly descended his majesty kept his right hand at the salute, and his example was followed by all the officers present. It was noticed, however, that the emperor did not appear to entirely approve the statue or the position which it occupies. He conversed for a long time earnestly with those around him, kept pointing to the statue, and then walked slowly around it. Returning to the pavilion the emperor had the guard of honor march past again, this time at the "Parade Marsch." Afterwards the emperor shook hands cordially with Mayor Von Ibel and others, and drove to the palace amid loud cheers.

After dinner Emperor William went with his suite to the new theatre, where the audience was composed entirely of invited guests. The first row of the dress circle was reserved exclusively for ladies as at the gala performance at Berlin.

After the performance the emperor supped with Rittmeister von Hulsen, director of the theatre, at his house on Sonnenberger strasse, and at 10:30 p. m. his majesty left for Berlin by special train to be present at the ceremonies attendant upon the arrival at the capital today of King Alexander of Servia.

Wiesbaden last evening was brilliantly illuminated in all quarters.

Bulletin About the Czar.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 17.—The Official Messenger has a special edition containing the following bulletin, signed by Professor Leyden and Drs. Zacharin, Popoff, and Beljaminoff, after a consultation among the physicians: "The disease of the kidneys shows no improvement. His majesty's strength has diminished. The physicians in attendance hope that the climate of the south coast of the Crimea will have a beneficial effect on the health of the czar."

Japs and Chinese Facing Each Other.

WI JU, Corea, Oct. 17.—The Japanese and Chinese armies are facing each other on the banks of the Yalu river. Both are perfecting their arrangements for a battle. Not a shot has been fired yet. Field Marshal Count Yamagata, commander of the Japanese forces, is awaiting the arrival of supplies and heavy artillery. Spies report that the Chinese army is 25,000 strong.

Remember That Old Fable.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A dispatch from Johannesburg says that the Portuguese have declined the offer of the Transvaal republic to send 300 Boers to the assistance of Lourenzo Marquez. The Portuguese are afraid to admit the Boers into the town, believing that it might not be easy to dislodge them when their services would be no longer needed.

Aaronowitz Not Held Responsible.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Louis Aaronowitz, owner of the building at 74 Monroe strert, which recently collapsed and caused the death and injury of several persons, was discharged in the Essex Market police court by Justice Sims, who held that he was not responsible for the accident.

BONNEY DEFENDS THE PARLIAMENT.

Comments on John W. Foster's Remarks on Oriental Missions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—President Bonney, of the World's fair parliament of religions, commenting on the statement of ex-Secretary of State Foster, after a tour around the world, that the effect of the parliament had been disheartening to Christian missionaries abroad, said: "Assuming that the first effect is apparently prejudicial to Christian missionaries I am entirely confident that the final outcome of the parliament of religions will be enormously beneficial to the cause of Christian missions, and will, indeed, finally result in an acknowledgment throughout the whole world of the supremacy of the Christian religion.

"One thing is almost universally admitted: Henceforth Christian missionary work must be conducted with increased ability, learning and wisdom. We can no longer think that while we need men of a high order of merit for home service we can be justified in sending those of indifferent ability to what we have been accustomed to call 'heathen lands.' I therefore expect to see the great missionary societies of the world enlarge and increase their work and adapt it more wisely than has ever been done to actual conditions of the people to whom they desire to bring the knowledge of the divine person and divine words."

NOT FOR THAT TROMBLEY.

Detroit Says the Terre Haute Man Is the Impostor.

DETROIT, Oct. 17.—The "pretender" is at last on the stage in the Chauvin case in the person of an alleged Frances B. Trombley, of Terre Haute, Ind., who says he is the only rightful heir of the murdered Charles B. Chauvin. The statements of the Terre Haute man in tracing his alleged ancestry are totally inaccurate, except as to some main points he could easily have learned from the papers. The acknowledged heirs, the real Frances B. and William D. Trombley, are known by all the older residents of Grosse Point, and have been recognized by hundreds of them.

BAY CITY, Mich., Oct. 17.—The claim of Frank Trombley, of Terre Haute, Ind., to be one of the heirs of the late Charles Chauvin, the murdered hermit of Grosse Pointe, is not given much credence here. Medor Trombley, a resident of Bay City since 1835, says his brother married a sister of Chauvin, and they had but two sons. The Terre Haute man says there were three sons and two daughters. Harriet Trombley's name does not appear in the city directories for the past six years. The postoffice department does not know her, and Medor Trombley, father of all the Trombleys of this city, says he never heard of her.

Latest Departure of Coxeyism.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 17.—"General" Charles T. Kelly, who led the San Francisco regiment of the Coxey army to Washington, has completed arrangements for a new industrial march, but instead of going across the continent he will this time direct his invading forces toward San Jose and the productive portions that lie along the route. Branches of the army will be established in various parts of the state with the intention of massing the forces at Sacramento during the next session of the legislature, in the manner that Coxey and his followers went to Washington.

Important Railway Meeting.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 17.—A conference of the executive officers of the western and southwestern railway lines, adjourned from last September's meeting at Chicago, has begun at the Planter's hotel in this city. Seventy-two lines are represented directly and indirectly. The presiding officer in the absence of President Marvin Huggett, of the Chicago and Northwestern, is Chairman Midgeley, of the Western Freight association. The objects of the meeting include the discussion of a large number of subjects affecting the revenues for the balance of the year and the ensuing year.

And This in Bleeding Kansas.

ARKANSAS CITY, Oct. 17.—A man came to this city from Cross to raise a crowd of men to accompany him to New Ponca. That town and Cross are rival towns and there was to be a Republican meeting at the former place. Dennis Flynn was to deliver an address there. Captain Baker, of Cross, was to make an address, but Poncaites sent him word to stay at home or he would be roughly handled.

Law and Order in Colorado.

DEBEQUE, Oct. 17.—Thirty-five high bred bucks belonging to Herb Young, and twenty ordinary sheep belonging to John Fitzpatrick have been slaughtered in their pens, presumably by cattlemen. It is reported that Young's main herd of 3,000 sheep on the range has also been slaughtered, but this is doubted, as the herd is strongly guarded by well armed men.

Will Talk About Railway Bridges.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 17.—The fourth annual meeting of the American International Association of Railway Superintendents of Bridges and Buildings has begun at the Coates House. Another Reduction in Whisky.

PEORIA, Ills., Oct. 17.—The whisky trust has reduced the prices on alcohol 2 cents per gallon, equivalent to nearly 4 cents per wine gallon. GREATER GOTHAM

Seems to Consist of Policemen with a "Pull."

SOME OF THE PRANKS THEY PLAY,

As Developed Before the Legislative Lexow Committee—Perquisites of a Paison Official—How He Bled His Prisoners—Two Relatives Who Swear to Directly Opposite Facts—A Regular Bonanza in the Polling Booth Business.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—There was a demand made at the session of the Lexow investigating committee yesterday for the members to "go up higher." By this is meant that some of the members of the committee are tired of the investigation of policemen and minor criminals, and that the police commissioners and leading politicians should be placed on the stand. This demand was expressed by Senator Lexow, who said that it was time to go higher up. Senator O'Connor echoed his sentiments in still stronger language. He said that enough testimony had been produced against the rank and file of the police; that it was now the duty of the commission to find out just how far the higher officials of the force had been derelict in duty. Chairman Lexow said that the public demanded this.

Will "Go Up Higher" in Time.

Mr. Goff in reply said that he was not quite ready to "go up higher," but that he would soon be ready to call the police commissioners to the stand. One other point of importance came out at the investigation. Mr Goff came in and announced that he had written to Superintendent Byrnes and the commissioners of charities calling their attentian to the registration of inmates of prisons as voters and to the law distinctly providing that they were not voters. Superintendent Byrnes' reply was given in which he stated that he would instruct the police to enforce the law. A few specimens of the character of the testimony before the committee so far will serve to show what it is like.

Doesn't Know the Nature of Perjury.

John Johnson, an inmate of the Tombs, related that when first arrested he was lodged in the Jefferson Market prison, where keeper Leach insisted with curses that he must engage a lawyer named Gatlin. On two occasions the witness paid Leach $1 for the privilege of walking in the corridor. Leach was called to the stand.

"Do you know what perjury is?" asked Goff.

"No, I don't," said Leach nervously. The nature of perjury was explained to him and he was forced to acknowledge that he had received money from prisoners and that he had recommended Lawyers Gatlin and Penticost to prisoners.

A Policeman Who Had a "Pull."

Policeman Callahan's "pull" was the subject of inquiry, also. James Smith, who keeps a restaurant in Greenwich street, told the committee how the officer came to his place intoxicated one day last week, threatened him with a revolver and otherwise conducted himself in a disorderly manner, winding up by taking the witness to the police station. Joseph Frankel, a saloonkeeper told of paying Policeman Shelvey $5 a week for "protection" and of having been arrested upon a trumped-up charge and bulldozed into paying $300 for the assistance of "Silver Dollar" Smith to save him from prison. Frankel was discharged without a hearing by the police justice after the money had been paid.

SOMEBODY LYING IN THIS CASE.

The Conclusion of Senator O'Connor After Hearing the Two McLaughlins.

Patrick McLaughlin said he was a first cousin of John B. McLaughlin, and that his relative was a perjurer and never in the army. This puzzled the committee, and they probed into the conflicting testimony. It was found that there was hard feeling between the cousins. The witness said his cousin came to him and said he had secured a discharge paper from the army from a friend of his, and he was going to use it to help him get on the police force.

Policeman McLaughlin was recalled to the stand. He described the different parts of a gun and the duties of an artilleryman. Chairman Lexow said he believed the officer was telling the truth. The cousin persisted in his assertions that the policeman had never been in the army.

"One of you ought to be in state prison for perjury," commented Senator O'Connor.

Moses V. Hamilton, a business man, brought the day's proceedings to a somewhat dramatic close. He identified Captain Martens, who was present, as the officer he had paid $15 to two years ago. This was to secure the privilege of letting his store for a registry and polling place. The city pays $50 for these stations and it appears to have been the custom of the police to demand $15 out of it. Police Captain Berghold testified that he had examined Quinlan's hotel and found evidence of an attempt to colonize voters.

Illinois Baptists in Conference.

PONTIAC, Oct. 17.—The second day of the Baptist General Association of Illinois was devoted chiefly to a meeting of the Pastoral union. Rev. H. C. Leland was chosen moderator. The forenoon sermon was by Rev. S. H. Boyer. Dr. Merrill, of Rochester, N. Y., spoke of German educational work. Rev. E. L. Schofield, D. D., gave one of the ablest papers ever read before the conference, on "Symbolism of Christian Ordinances." The afternoon session was devoted to spirited discussion on relation of ministers to so called advanced thought.

With the synod are the Women's Synodical Home Missionary society and Women's Foreign Missionary society.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Officials of the Chinese legation say Americans residing in China will be given ample protection as long as the war exists. The legation shares the feeling expressed in recent cables from Pekin that foreigners have nothing to fear from outbreaks of natives.

IN THE POLITICAL FIELD.

Leaders Continue to Stir Up the Voters with Their Oratory.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Senator Hill arrived here last evening and was given a hearty reception. As early as 7 o'clock the Opera House was filled with an enthusiastic audience. The senator was escorted from the hotel by the Jacksonians and several hundred enthusiastic Democrats, while a handsome display of fireworks was made along the route.

CARMI, Ills., Oct. 17.—A great crowd of Democrats from all sections of White county gathered here to greet Hon. Franklin MacVeagh, Democratic candidate for United States senator. He spoke about an hour and a half, devoting his attention almost entirely to the tariff. Congressman Williams also spoke.

JACKSONVILLE, Ills., Oct. 17.—Senator Cullom, John I. Rinaker and J. R. Mann of Chicago, were greeted here by a large and enthusiastic crowd which filled the city and made every demonstration of enthusiasm for the principles of the Republican party. Cullom spoke in the afternoon. Rinaker also spoke and in the evening J. R. Mann, of Chicago, spoke for over two hours.

MT. PLEASANT, Ia., Oct. 17.—Senator Allison spoke on the political issues here to a large crowd of Henry county Republicans, who came from all over the county to hear him.

JUDGE SCOTT AND ROSEWATER.

Their Difficulties Develop a Sensational Legal Situation.

OMAHA, Oct. 17.—The unusual scene of one district judge defying the authority of five other judges of the district sitting as a court has been witnessed in Omaha and is likely to provoke some very peculiar situations before being settled. The case of Editor Rosewater, of The Bee, who is charged with libel by ex-Sheriff Bennett to be tried by some judge other than Judge R. C. Scott, caused the trouble. On the editor's appeal to the other five judges they decided to hear the case, and cited the editor to appear today.

When Judge Scott was notified of the judge's decision he declared that the case could not be transferred from the criminal bench of the court. He then made an order nullifying the act of the five judges and ordering Mr. Rosewater to appear before him today. When court was in session he said: "We have now met the cross roads, and I do not propose to take either side, but instead I am going to tread right in the middle of the road.

"Here I am, an American citizen, 68 years of age, and upon a broad gauge platform that will permit me to give every man a fair and impartial trial. If I did not want to give Rosewater a fair trial the motion might be excused. There is no law to take this off my docket and it will stay there. If there is any monkeying about it some one is going to be cited to appear for contempt, and I think I am a pretty good authority on contempt."

FATAL FIRE AT HOUSTON.

Two Persons Burned to Death and a Third Fatally Scorched.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 17.—Fire originating in the San Jacinto hotel spread to St. Joseph's infirmary, destroying two of the buildings of that institution. Five other buildings were burned, causing a loss altogether of about $350,000, with $150,000 insurance. The most serious loss, however, was the destruction of life, two persons having been cremated and one probably fatally injured.

The two lost were Sisters Dorleral and Jane, of the infirmary, whose remains were recovered burned beyond recognition. Sister Clothilde was badly burned and it is thought she cannot live. There were a number of narrow escapes and several persons badly injured by jumping from the second story of the San Jacinto hotel. None were fatally hurt, however. Two patients reported missing have been accounted for.

The Morton Coachman Case.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A writ of habeas corpus was issued by Judge Lacombe, of the United States circuit court, directing Commissioner Senner and Inspector Dodge to produce John James Howard this afternoon and show cause why he ought not to be discharged from custody. This is Levi P. Morton's coachman who was to have been deported today under the alien labor law.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 17.—The Cook gang of outlaws has been in the neighborhood of Gibson Station several days. Information is brought that the full band is camped within two miles of Muskogee, just behind the hill on the northeast side.

THOMAS ROBERTS.

THUGISM ABOUNDS.

Minister and Wife Attacked by a Burglar.

A FEARFUL STRUGGLE FOR LIFE.

Both of Them Terribly Wounded, the Husband Fatally—President of an Oregon Bank Held Up by Four Bandits, Who Get Nothing—Militia Called Out to Prevent a Lynching in Ohio—Murderous Fight Between Farmers.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 17.—A burglar did bloody work with a hatchet at the residence of Rev. F. E. Wolfe in Alameda. Mrs. Wolfe was awakened by the presence of a man in the bedroom where she and her husband slept. She rose in bed and was struck down with a hatchet. Her husband, awakened by her cry, attempted to rise. He too was struck. In their struggle with the burglar the Wolfes screamed lustily, arousing their neighbors. When succor came both were lying unconscious in their blood-stained bed.

One Victim Mortally Hurt.

On the floor lay the hatchet where it had been dropped by the escaped robber. Mrs. Wolfe has regained consciousness and will probably recover, though she has bad wounds about her skull. Mr. Wolfe is mortally wounded. The hatchet pierced his skull on the right side, severing the temporal artery. One of his cheeks is terribly gashed and his head badly battered. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe are missionaries, who lately returned from Alaska.

HELD UP IN THE COUNTY ROAD.

A Bank President Forced to Give the Safe Combination.

HILLSBORO, Ore., Oct. 17.—John W. Schute, president of the First National bank, was held up on the county road by four masked men. They took him to a clump of dense brush by the roadside, and having bound him, secured the keys of the bank, and compelled him to give them the combination to the vault. Two of the men started for the bank while the others remained as a guard over Mr. Schute.

The two men returned and said they could not get into the vault and that Schute had given them the wrong combination. After considerable parleying and many threats they started with Schute for town, but when the outskirts of the town were reached they turned him loose and disappeared. There is evidence that the robbers had been to the bank, but got nothing.

Dispersed a Mob with the Bayonet.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 17.—A special to the State Journal from Washington Court House says a mob of several thousand people surrounded the jail there last night, threatening to lynch Jasper Dolby, a negro who raped Mrs. Mary C. Boyd, of Parrett's Station. Dolby was lodged in the jail. The mob became so demonstrative that the militia was ordered out by the sheriff, and the crowd dispersed at the point of the bayonet. The militia is guarding the jail.

Fought Each Other With Shotguns.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 17.—Charles H. Williams and William Pearson, white farmers between whom for years bad blood has existed, had a fatal fight in Orangeburg county. The two men met in the fields and both commenced firing at the same time. Their guns were loaded with buckshot and Pearson was instantly killed. Williams is badly wounded about the head, but to what extent is not known.

Belongs to the Church Militant.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Oct. 17.—Rev. Mr. Bashan, living near Lexington, was called to his door and when he opened it persons outside fired on him. He jumped back, secured a Winchester and returned the fire, wounding one of his assailants, as shown by a trail of blood. The attempted assassination was by desperadoes whom he had scored in his sermons.

Rising Generation «Up to Date."

CINCINNATI, Oct. 17.—At the close of school at Brighton, a village in West Virginia, near Packersburg, a quarrel among the boys developed into a shooting scrape in which Willis Gardner, aged 15, was shot to death and his little brother, aged 8, fatally stabbed. The teacher Morris Pockering, was also fearfully cut while trying to preserve order.

Think They Have Two Robbers.

CHERRY RUN, W. Va., Oct. 17.—Three men who are supposed to be of those who held up the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad train at Aquia creek last Friday night and robbed it of a large amount of money, have been cornered near here by some detectives. After a hard fight two of the men were captured.

A Baltimoree Inventor's Hope.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17.—A Baltimore inventor hopes to make real the imaginary voyage of Jules Verne's boat Nautilus under the sea. After years of steady experimenting Simon Luke, of East Baltimore, has invented a submarine boat which he claims is capable of accomplishing what Jules Verne suggested might be possible in the imaginary voyage of the Nautilus. According to Luke everything done on the Nautilus can be done on his boat.

Japs Preparing to Take Port Arthur.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A special from Shanghai says: Fifteen thousand troops under Field Marshal Ayomama are encamped across Regent's Sword promontory, to the north of Port Arthur and within sight of that naval stronghold. They are waiting for a favorable moment to move forward, while outside the port the Japanese cruisers are ready to intercept all ret reat seaward.

Warm Reception to Bayard.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 17.—Ambassador Bayard was given a hearty reception on his arrival here. An eloquent welcoming speech was made by Senator Gray, to which Bayard replied briefly. Believe Her Lost with All on Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—The gale which has prevailed along the north Pacific coast since Saturday last has undoubtedly caused widespread disaster to shipping interests. At least three schooners are known to be wrecked. There are grave reasons for believing that the American ship Ivanhoe has been lost with all on board.

LOOKING FOR A LETTER.

Cleveland Expected to Indorse the New York State Ticket in Writing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A special from Washington says: It is believed here that a letter from the president indorsing the regular New York state ticket will be made public early next week and that in addition to commending the nominees Mr. Cleveland will send a campaign contribution. This has been foreshadowed and there is little doubt of it in administration circles. It is not improbable also that a number of prominent leaders who have hitherto hesitated to accept campaign engagements will take the stump in New York state.

THE WARLIKE HOVAS

THEY OBJECT TO FRENCH DOMINATION IN MADAGASCAR.

As the French Seem Determined to Establish a Protectorate, War Is Imminent. France's Unfortunate Attempts at Colonization In the East.

Madagascar is to be the next point of interest in the eastern hemisphere, and if the French go on there as they have begun there will either be a big disturbance with other European powers or a new rule must be adopted as to the rights of civilized nations over wild regions and uncivilized peoples. Le Myre de Villers, French envoy to Madagascar, has demanded that the entire northeast coast, including the best harbor, be ceded to France; that she control all the northern peninsula, and that concessions of any kind to other nations be invalid unless approved by her. In short, France is to dominate in the island regardless of the rights of other peoples. The Hovas, whose capital is Antananrivo and their queen Ranavalona III, are only nominal rulers, as in about half the country the wild tribes are independent.

It is a little strange that so large an island—it is at least 1,000 miles long and contains some 230,000 square miles and some 4,500,000 people—and one so valuable should be so little known to Europeans. The main reason is that the lowlands are hot almost beyond endurance and notorious even among tropical countries for their deadly fevers and general unhealthfulness. They are as fatal to natives of the interior as to Europeans, and there is one considerable valley to which the Hovas send persons convicted of capital crimes, a few months' residence there making death certain. Only a few miles from the eastern coast, however, the mountain climate is salubrious.

The French seem more unfitted for colonization and for dealing with colonies than any other Europeans. They have been unfortunate everywhere and especially so in the far east. Once they rivaled the English in India, but lost everything there. They ruled the Mauritius so long that their language became the vernacular.

It was known as the isle of France, but in 1810 the British took it, and it is now a crown colony. The little island of Reunion, between Madagascar and the Mauritius, is all that is left to France. It is the most delightful for residence of all the islands in that ocean and is extremely fertile, yet France has not made it profitable.

Madagascar, lying 500 miles west of the Mauritius, is apparently the last chance for the French in that part of the world, and their first settlement on the island was in 1642, but after a destructive war with the natives they abandoned the country till 1745.

It was in 1506 that the Portuguese discovered Madagascar, and in 1644 the English established a military post on the lower coast, but the soldiers died faster than the survivors could bury them, and the fever stricken remnant fled. Early in this century, however, British traders and missionaries got a foothold where they could live. The Bible was translated into the language of the ruling race, and many thousands were converted. The Hovas inhabiting the kingdom of Emerina, aided by British weapons, soon became the dominant race and abolished infanticide and other cruel customs. In 1828, however, Ranavalona became queen, reverted to idolatry, and a dreadful persecution of Christians followed. The kingdom had almost relapsed to complete barbarism when she died in 1861, and her son, Radama II, restored Christianity.

In the period of reaction the French and English were driven out, so in 1845 their combined fleets bombarded and destroyed Tamatave, but their troops could not penetrate the country. In 1863 King Radama was murdered, and his sister, Rasoherina, succeeded. She was soon succeeded by another queen, and she by the present ruler. At and near the capital there has been wonderful progress. Three printing presses have been established at the capital and about 150,000 Bibles, tracts and small books printed in the Hova tongue. There are 360,000 nominal Christians and 150 schools. In 1853 the French regained a footing and have extended their power till they now declare their intention to establish a protectorate over the whole island, take charge of its foreign affairs, establish military posts and maintain order.

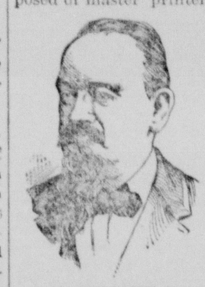

Early last year two Americans and a French companion were murdered by some Hovas in the interior, and the French charged that it was due to English intrigues. Soon after an embassy came to Washington, and a treaty was made by which Americans acquired the rights of trade and residence, from which European statesmen conclude that the United States will take a hand in settling the question. The Hovas seem bent on war and have an army of 20,000 men fairly equipped with European arms. The French think that 5,000 of their soldiers will be sufficient to subdue the whole island, but fighting in the lowlands can only be done by them in the coolest months.

The last of the aborigines of Madagascar were exterminated centuries ago, and the present inhabitants are of Malay stock on the east and African on the west and south. The latter are known in a general way as Malagasy and are heathen of the lowest sort. It is not easy to define the exact limits of the Hovas' rule, but as to foreigners their government is the only one on the island. Queen Ranavalona III was crowned Nov. 22, 1883, and rules through a prime minister, who, while he holds office, is ex-officio her husband. She became greatly attached to a white man who made ice cream, of which she is very fond, and when the prime minister drove him out of the island the queen was quite heartbroken. The French said that all the government needed was a box office and ticket taker to become a comic opera.

THE MASTER PRINTERS.

Cyrene H. Blakely of Chicago Heads the National Typothetæ.

The United Typothetæ of America, composed of master printers, has just closed its eighth annual convention at Philadelphia, where many questions of importance to the trade were discussed, such as the abolition of the government printing office, a new standard of type measurement and the ever recurring differences between bosses and printers. Indeed it was the demand of the International Typographical union that the hours of labor be reduced to nine per day which caused the organization of the Typothetæ as it now is, though something like it had previously existed.

C. H. BLAKELY.

It is an odd fact that printing had been done in this country for 250 years before there was any effective union of those who directed it. In 1638 Mrs. Glover brought a printer's outfit from England, and it was set up at Cambridge, and Bradford began printing in Philadelphia in 1685, but the master printers of the country as a whole did not come together till the rapid rise of prices during the war compelled action. There was an organization in each large city, and they acted somewhat in unison by correspondence, but peace came, prices fell rapidly, and the organizations dissolved. In 1885 Mr. Douglas Taylor brought the master printers of New York together. Other cities followed rapidly, and in October, 1887, in Chicago, the national organization was effected and arrangements made for annual conventions.

The name adopted was that given to the printers of Germany in 1470 by Frederick III, who granted special privileges to the two orders of Typographi and Typothetæ. The first great issue was the nine hour question. The compositors yielded, and the result was the present standard of 59 hours per week.

The first president of the Typothetæ was Theodore Low de Vinne, and the one recently chosen and now acting is Cyrene H. Blakely of Chicago. There are six vice presidents and various executive officers. Mr. Blakely was born in East Berkshire, Vt., in 1837 and learned the printer's trade in the office of The Evening Journal of Syracuse, N. Y., served in the civil war in a Minnesota regiment and then located in Chicago, where he has been very successful.

EDUCATED AT ANNAPOLIS.

An Ex-American Distinguishes Himself In the Chinese Navy.

There is but one American in the Chinese naval service, and his opinions are sought with intense interest. He is Philo N. McGiffin, who was graduated from the Annapolis Naval academy in 1882 and honorably discharged in 1884 because there was no vacancy for him in our navy. He went to China in 1885 and did such good work in reorganizing her navy that he was warmly praised by the emperor and made superintendent of the Chinese Naval college. In 1885 he served in the Chinese war with France. He had obtained leave of absence to visit home, but when the present war began refused to leave and was at once made commander of China's most powerful war vessel, the Chin-Yuen.

His brother, Alexander McGiffin, is professor of elocution in the Polytechnic institute in Brooklyn, and the commander's letters to him have been full of enthusiastic statements that the Chinese sailors would prove good fighters and that China's cause was just. Just before the last big naval battle he wrote:

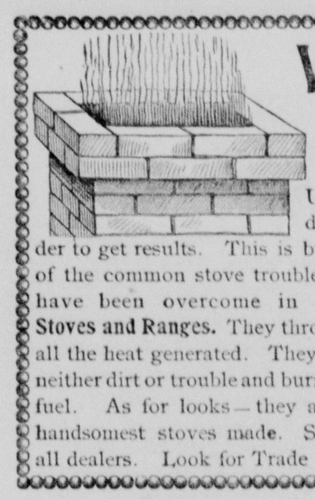

"We are badly fitted out in the surgeon's department. We have only two doctors, both Chinese, to 20 ships and an army of over 300,000 men. I have my own surgical case, and I can do some things, but it is now four killed to one wounded since the new ammunition came into use, instead of four wounded to one killed as it was 30 years ago. It is better so. I don't want to be wounded and hate to think of being dreadfully mangled and then being patched up with half my limbs and senses gone, yet 'a triumph of surgical skill.' No; I prefer to step down or up and out of this world when my time comes."

The McGiffins are fighting stock. Captain Norton McGiffin of the United States army, father of the commander, won honors in the Mexican war, and as colonel of the Eighty-eighth Pennsylvania volunteers made a good record in the civil war. The commander was born in Washington, Pa., in 1862 and was of soldierly instincts from the start. In a subsequent letter he tells of the sinking of the Kow-Shung by the Japanese, and of a later battle says:

"The Tsi-Yuen was a dreadful sight. First Lieutenant Shin, an old and close friend of mine, was in the conning tower when a shell came through and burst. His brains were spattered all over it. His whole head was blown off, and a jaw and an eye were stuck over the door. It was the same thing all over the ship—men blown to pieces. One shell fired in the gun shield killed seven men. The ship was struck over 100 times. How more damage was not done is a miracle."

Immigrants From Iceland.

"Iceland is fast removing to the United States—that is, its people are," said A. B. Bruce to the Cincinnati Enquirer. "They are going to Dakota just as fast as they can. What started them there I do not know, but they cannot be blamed for leaving the island that is more like a burned out cinder than anything else. It used to be much more fertile than now, and the climate more equable. To those familiar with Iceland the change during the last decade is very marked. In North Dakota thousands of Icelanders can be found.

SAILED THE SEAS 38 YEARS.

One of His Experiences.

For thirty-eight years Capt. Loud followed the sea, most of that time as master of a vessel, and upon retiring from the water was appointed by the Secretary of the United States Treasury to superintend the seal fisheries in Alaska, which position he held five years. He relates one experience as follows:

"For several years I had been troubled with general nervousness and pain in the region of my heart. My greatest affliction was sleeplessness; it was almost impossible at any time to obtain rest and sleep. Having seen Dr. Miles' remedies advertised I began using Nervine. After taking a small quantity the benefit received was so great that I was positively alarmed, thinking the remedy contained opiates which would finally be injurious to me; but of being assured by the druggist that it was perfectly harmless, I continued together with the Heart Cure. Today I can conscientiously say that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure did more for me than anything I had ever taken. I had been treated by eminent physicians in New York and San Francisco without benefit. I owe my present good health to the judicious use of these most valuable remedies, and heartily recommend them to all afflicted as I was."—Capt. A. P. Loud, Hampden, Me.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Cure are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, express prepaid. They are free from all opiates and dangerous drugs.

The Tin-plate Industry.

Some time about the first of the month a dispatch in the papers stated that the tin-plate factories of this country had closed down and a considerable wonder was created among those who did not understand the cause of such suspension, but a dispatch from Baltimore explains the matter fully. It was as follows:

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 2.—The tin importers of this city made a rush on the Custom House yesterday to withdraw their tin from bond. During the day over $60,000 was received from this source alone. The cause of the rush was the reduction of the tariff on tin plates under the new tariff law which went into effect yesterday. The new tariff reduces the duty 1c. per pound on tin. The number of pounds of plate withdrawn from bond yesterday was therefore over 5,000,000. The stock in bond has been unusually heavy for the past two weeks, the importers having held back in order to take advantage of the reduction of duty, and the rush yesterday was because of their need to fill waiting orders or for use in their own factories in this city. It is estimated that over 3,000,000 pounds of tin plates yet remain in bond, which will probably be withdrawn during the next few days.

So it may be seen by even a free trader that the tin-plate industry of this country received a severe blow by the reduction of duty on that commodity in the so called Wilson bill. The above dispatch clearly shows that the tin-plate manufacturers of England well understood that there was to be a reduction in the tariff on tin-plate, else they would not have imported the large amount of tin they did and placed it in the warehouses of our port, ready for the Wilson bill to pass. The above dispatch from Baltimore fully explains why it is that the tin-plate factories that were started under the McKinley law have recently closed down.

Mildew of Chrysanthemums.

This is a disease caused by a great extreme of temperature. The Chinese varieties are especially subject to its attacks.

Over-crowding of plants and insufficient ventilation are frequent causes, as well as a cold, wet soil and dull, cloudy weather. The best preventive is to avoid over-crowding; giving abundance of air through the day and preserving a dry atmosphere at. The most effectual remedy is to dust flower of sulpher liberally on the plant, so as to come in contact with both upper and under sides of the leaves.—From "Morton's Chrysanthemum Culture."

Burglars have again broken the monotony of our village by entering three of our business places during Monday night. In the saloon of Blei and Walters they did not find any money, so took a revolver, an overcoat, and some beer and cigars, of course. Entering through a sash in the back door of George Barth's store; they made no effort to get to the large safe, standing in a strong vault. In the money drawer they got twenty-five cents in silver, but disdained to take the coppers. Not satisfied with this haul, they took some clothing. They entered Charles E. Stanard's meat market through a window; then opened the back door and carried off his safe bodily. They had borrowed Will White's wheelbarrow, but that collapsed under the safe. A stronger wheelbarrow was taken from Bettendorf & Stephanitosh's hardware store; the safe wheeled to the southeastern part of town and the door smashed in with sledges. Finding only four cents in the safe, they left them in disgust.

What Woman Can Do.

What women can do has never been so fully demonstrated as by Miss Jessie Ackerman, who, during six years of travel among the natives of Australia, China, Corea, Japan, India and other Oriental countries, has met with experiences and adventures such as have befallen few men and never before a woman. She has visited the bottom of the sea with the pearl divers of Java, the bottom of the deepest mines in the world and the tops of the loftiest mountains. She has penetrated India's jungles, been in a shipwreck in the Indian ocean, traveled across China in a wheelbarrow, and been carried on a litter into the interior of Madagascar. She has been received at the courts of the King of Siam, the Sultan of Jahore, the Queen of Madagascar, and has been honored with an interview with Li-Hung-Chang, the viceroy of China, recently made famous by the "yellow riding jacket incident." Her audiences are first thrilled by her narration of some hair-breadth escape and are next holding their sides with laughter, as she tells in her own charming and humerous way of some funny situation into which she has been thrown.

Miss Ackermann has been secured by the local W. C. T. U. to deliver two lectures at the Opera House, Oct. 23 and 24. On the platform with her will appear some of Dixon's most popular young ladies in costumes from the counties visited by the lecturer. It is safe to say that no more unique, interesting or instructive entertainment has ever visited Dixon. Seats on sale at Henderson's book store.
